4. THE ZENITH ETHICAL FUND – INTRODUCTION

4.1 The Fund

The Zenith Ethical Fund is an open-ended fund which is authorized and registered in Nigeria as a unit trust scheme under section 160 of Investment and Securities Act 2007 and is available to investors through this Initial Public Offering with 100,000,000 Units at the initial price of ₦10 per Unit. The Fund is not a legal entity but is constituted under a Trust Deed with Afribank Trustees & Investments Limited as the Trustees and is sponsored and managed by Zenith Bank.

The Fund's investment objective is to achieve long term capital growth through investment in a portfolio of quality investments chosen on the basis of ethical ("socially responsible") criteria. The Fund will seek to achieve its objective by investing all or of its assets in common stock that meet the Fund's guidelines. The Fund is designed for investors seeking an alternative investment outlet to achieve capital growth.

4.2 Socially Responsible Investing

The Fund's investment strategy combines the intention to maximise both investment return and social good. To achieve this, the Fund manager employs a social screening process to allocate capital towards companies that fit the ethical precepts held by investors. Pursuant to these, the Fund will not invest in companies that derive their revenues from the following areas: Tobacco, and Alcohol, Gaming, defense/weapons production and companies engage in Banking and Insurance business.

The Fund will be actively managed and will enable investors to invest with their values without compromising return.

The Manager of the Fund, Zenith Bank Plc has since its establishment in 1990, eighteen years ago, grown to become one of the largest companies on the Nigerian Stock Exchange by market capitalization. The Manager intends to rapidly replicate this success with the Fund, the first in a bouquet of funds to be floated by the Zenith Group in due course.

4.3 Investment Objectives

The underlying objective of the Fund is to achieve superior return in the long term through exposure to a select portfolio of equity securities with significant potential for capital appreciation having been screened to fit. The Manager shall seek to accomplish this objective by relying on its personnel which have over 100 years of combined local and international experience in investment management. The Manager will also rely on its qualitative research capabilities to identify outperforming stocks and instrument to be held by the Fund. The economies of scale of the Fund will enable it to operate in an extremely efficient manner, thereby minimizing transaction cost

4.4 Investment Philosophy, Policies and Strategy

The Fund Manager's investment decisions will be guided by its philosophy, which is premised on the under listed:

1. The markets for investments are inefficient; active management can add value to a portfolio;
2. Superior performance can be obtained through undertaking thorough research;
3. Cutting-edge technology can help to identify temporary pricing anomalies;
4. "Bottom-up" stock selection is crucial - the portfolio is the sum of the individual parts;
5. "Top-down" input features as a high level check on aggregate portfolios;
6. Seek strong cashflow generators with proven business models; and
7. Pricing models vary by sector – calculate "fair market value" and compare with current market value to assess whether cheap or dear.

Strategic Asset Allocation of the Fund

ASSET CLASS	LONG TERM ASSET ALLOCATION %
Equities	100

1. The Fund Manager will be responsible for determining the eligibility of assets to be held by the Fund which will be in compliance with the Trust Deed. The Fund will operate primarily as growth fund and shall therefore focus on capital appreciation over the long term.
2. In seeking to achieve its stated objective, the Fund Manager will seek to invest up to 100% of its assets in high quality equity holdings

In selecting securities within the screening process the Fund Manager identifies and ranks stocks within an industry or sector, based on several characteristics, including:

- Value, or how a stock is priced relative to its perceived intrinsic worth
- Growth, in this case the suitability of growth in earnings
- Financial profile, which measures the financial health of the company

Consequently, based on fundamental analysis, the Fund Manager selects the most attractive of the higher ranked securities, drawing on a variety of sources, including internal as well as market research.

Finally, the Fund Manager manages risk by diversifying across sectors and industries, seeking to limit the potential adverse impact from any one stock or industry.

4.5 Potential Subscribers

The Zenith Ethical Fund has been designed to suit the needs of discerning investors seeking to achieve capital growth in Nigerian based investments. The Zenith Ethical Fund is therefore a suitable investment for a broad range of investors that includes individuals as well as institutional investors such as employee schemes, fund managers, trust companies, insurance companies, banks, government parastatals, investment clubs, endowments NGO's and other associations. Nigerian citizens based abroad as well as other foreign individual and foreign institutional investors are eligible to invest in the Fund. Broadly, the Fund focuses on investors who aim to achieve levels of return in excess of yields available from traditional fixed income investments but prefer to limit the down-side risk associated with equity investments over the long term. Investors with short term investment horizons may buy Units of the Fund but are less likely to achieve the same level of growth as investors with a long-term focus.

4.6 Investment Incentives/Benefits of the Zenith Ethical fund

4.17 Costs & Expenses of the Fund

The initial cost of establishing this Fund will be charged against the expected proceeds and will not exceed 5.07% of the total offer proceeds. This cost includes regulatory and professional fees, printing, advertising, publicity and the statutory brokerage commission.

4.18 Operating Expenses

The management fee which is payable by the fund will not exceed 5% of Net Asset Value of the Fund plus expenses per annum which fees shall include all managerial, administrative, research and marketing expenses incurred during the day-to-day operations of the Fund. In addition to this, the Fund Manager shall be entitled to an annual incentive fee equivalent to 30% of total returns earned in excess of 10% of the Net Asset of the Fund, subject to any subsisting regulations in relation to incentive fees payable by units trusts schemes that may be applicable at the time such an incentive fee is payable.

The Fund Manager will exercise all necessary caution in investing monies mobilised by the Fund. However, no guarantee can be given that the Fund's objectives will be realised. A subscription to the Fund should therefore be considered to be a calculated risk as it is subject, among other things, to the price movements of equities on the Nigeria stock market.

The Fund Manager cannot confirm that political and economic development in Nigeria, over which the Fund has no control, will not limit the Fund's investments flexibility or its ability to attain its investment objectives. The Fund Manager has substantial knowledge of local practices and remedies that are available for alleviating a substantial portion of the risks associated with these concerns, but do not provide any guarantees.

In addition to the foregoing, foreign currency subscribers should note that their investment will be denominated in Naira and should qualify for repatriation upon redemption. In addition, foreign subscribers should note that their investment may also be subject to currency fluctuations and exchange control regulations in the jurisdictions of which they are citizens, residents or domiciled and in which they conduct business and are advised to consult their own professional advisers, in this regard.

Gentlemen,

We have examined the accompanying financial forecast of Zenith Ethical Fund in accordance with the International Standard on Assurance Engagements applicable to the examination of prospective financial information. The Fund Manager is solely responsible for the financial forecast including the assumptions set out on page 19 on which the forecast is based.

In our opinion the financial forecast has been properly compiled on the basis of the assumptions made and is consistent with the accounting policy of the Fund Manager. However, there will usually be differences between forecast and actual results, because events and circumstances frequently do not occur as expected, and those differences may be material.

Further, we emphasize that the forecast information is not intended to, and does not, provide all the information and disclosures necessary to give a fair presentation of the results of the operations of the Fund in accordance with Nigeria Accounting Standards.

Yours faithfully

J.K. Randle & Co.

MEMORANDUM ON THE PROFIT FORECAST FOR THE YEARS ENDING 31 DECEMBER 2008;2009;2010 AND 2011

1. INTRODUCTION

- 1.1 This memorandum has been prepared to summarise and outline the information available to the Directors and their basic assumptions at the time of their forecasts of the pre-tax profits for the years ending 31 December 2008; 2009; 2010; and 2011.
- 1.2 The Directors are of the opinion that subject to unforeseen circumstances, profit before taxation for the years ending 31 December 2008; 2009; 2010; and 2011 will be approximately ₦214,227,000; ₦385,101,000; ₦540,989,000; and ~~₦677,915,000~~ 000 respectively.

2. BASES AND ASSUMPTIONS

The forecasts have been arrived at on the following bases and assumptions:

2.1 Bases

- (i) The estimates for the years ending 31 December 2008; 2009; and 2010 were prepared in January 2008.
- (ii) Previous year's actual performance has been reviewed against budget as the basis for measuring the reasonableness of the forecasts for the years ending 31 December 2008; 2009; and 2010.
- (iii) The forecasts are based on generally accepted accounting standards and have been prepared in accordance with the Companies and Allied Matters Act, CAP C 20 LFN 2004 and Investment and Securities Act, 2007.

2.2 Assumptions

- (iv) Based on the projected level of operations, gross income will be approximately ~~₦249,939,000~~ for the year ending 31 December 2008.
- (v) Subject to the attainment of the budgeted income for the year ending 31 December 2008, the gross income for the year ending 31 December 2009; 2010; and 2011 will be ~~₦473,681,000; ₦660,775,000; and ₦834,682,000~~ respectively.

Basis of account preparation

- (vi) The Fund Manager adopts the historical cost basis for the preparation and presentation of the Funds financial statements. The Fund Manager does not expect any material change in its accounting policies during the period for which the forecast contained in this document has been prepared.

Political and economic factors

- (vii) The Fund Manager expects relative predictability in the political climate over the next three years. Despite Year 2011 being a national elections year, the Fund Manager does not envisage any substantially negative impact on the investment industry. The Federal Government is expected to continue with policies which aim to reduce interest rates and maintain a single digit inflation regime. Initiatives geared towards broadening the capital market should have a positive impact on the Fund Manager's equity investments.

Subscription level

- (viii) The one hundred million (100,000,000) Units of The Fund put on Offer will be fully subscribed within the announced subscription period under the terms of the Offering.

Initial offer cost

- (ix) Total cost associated with the Initial Public Offering of the units of the Fund is estimated at 5.05% and payable at the end of the initial subscription period. The cost may however be amortised evenly over a period of five years. The Fund Manager expects the net offer proceeds, which should amount to about N949.5 million, to be available for investing from June 2008.

Investment of funds and limitations

- (x) The Fund will stake 100% of its asset in selected equities.
- (xi) The Fund should participate in primary issues to the tune of an average of 15% of its Net Asset Value in 2008 and 12.5% in each of 2009 and 2010 respectively.
- (xii) Dividend yield on equity investments will average 2.08% of the market value of equity investments during 2008/2009, 1.88% in 2010 and 1.69% in 2011 financial periods.
- (xiii) Management fees including all administration, research and advertising expenses will be incurred on accrual basis and may not exceed 1.5% of the value of the total asset of the Fund;
- (xiv) Equity investment will be made in stocks either listed or registered to be listed within 12 months of the investment by the Manager on the Nigerian Stock Exchange. Capital gains will exceed 15% in the first six months and 30% in each of 2009 and 2010 financial periods. The expected appreciation for year 2011 is 27.25%.
- (xv) A simplistic assumption is made that net additional unit subscription is made after the last valuation in 2008 but evenly spread across each of the first, second and third 12-month financial periods.
- (xvi) The Fund is expected to achieve an average of 10% net annual growth rate in Units issued during the three-year period.
- (xvii) The Fund Manager anticipates active trading of about 60% of the average equity holding of The Fund during each of the first three financial years. Average annual net trading profit, in addition to capital gains, is expected to be 25%.

Administration of the Fund

- (a) Unit Certificates or statements will be dispatched not later than three weeks after the receipt of Allotment Approval from SEC to the addresses of successful applicants. The Trustees will issue Unit Certificates or statements to subscribers with respect to subsequent units issued by the Fund Manager within 5 weeks of the receipt of the requisite purchase order form and the corresponding investment sum;
- (b) Units redeemed within the first 90days of purchase will attract a processing fee of 1% of the value of the gross proceeds of the liquidation which will accrue to the account of the Fund;
- (c) Subscribers to the Fund will enjoy online access to the valuation of their holdings in the Fund. Subscribers will also be entitled to formal quarterly Fund reports as indicated in the Trust Deed.

Statement of Proposed Significant Accounting Policies

A summary of the major accounting policies, all of which are also applied to the forecast prepared by the Fund Manager is set out below:

Basis of accounting

The financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention as modified by the periodic revaluation of trading securities.

Income recognition

(a) Dividend

Dividend is recognised when the quoted price of the related security is marked down to reflect the value of the dividend and is stated gross of withholding tax. Bonus dividend is recognised on the basis of the market value on the date they are quoted ex-dividend.

(b) Interest

Interest income is recognised on accrual basis.

Gains from securities trading

Realised gains and losses from trading and holding tradable securities are reported as part of trading income.

7. GLOBAL INVESTMENT OUTLOOK

The credit crunch experienced by the world's leading economies in 2007 due to the sub-prime credit crisis in the United States of America has far reaching consequences for the growth of the world economy in 2008. The monetary authorities of nations worst hit by this crisis will focus their efforts to keep their economies insulated. Attention will shift to emerging economies and the evolving energy crisis due to rising oil prices. Emerging economies will do well not only as suppliers of capital to the rest of the world; they will also be where global investors will head to in search of new growth opportunities. The returns in emerging equity markets compared to developed markets have made these frontier markets a more convincing alternative for global investors. According to Standards and Poor's global stock market review, 'The World by Numbers' "emerging markets rose 42.0% in 2007 versus a gain of 9.4% for the world's developed markets". India, Nigeria and Egypt have ranked tops in performance in the league of performing emerging capital markets and these markets will be the destination of choice for international investors.

Index Performance across markets

The Nigerian economy stands to benefit from the unfolding trends in the global economy. The continued surge in oil prices will boost revenue as well as foreign reserves and will aid the government in its infrastructural revamp. The likely inflow of foreign funds from international markets will serve as a source of cheap funds and a catalyst of growth for the nation's stock market. The direction of government's economic policy in 2008 points to the direction of an expansion in fiscal policy. This could fuel inflation and raise interest rates further in the first two quarters before the central bank's inflation targeting monetary policy takes effect. In 2008, the depth of the Nigerian equity market will improve with new firms scheduled for listing and old ones revamped by recapitalisation or policy changes.

■ The Nigerian Renaissance

Strong GDP growth supported by the surge in oil price has propelled the Nigerian economy to new heights. Reserves are at an all-time high; fiscal prudence is at the fore and inflation is finally trending downwards. The government has introduced a significant range of reforms that have had an overall positive impact on the landscape. From financial sector reform, banking consolidation, to FGN bond issuance to deregulation/privatisation, the government has set in motion a series of catalysts that have dramatically improved the overall climate from a fiscal and regulatory perspective. The first civilian-to-civilian handover of power since the end of colonisation has placed Nigeria firmly on track to become one of the "Next-11" super economies as predicted by Goldman Sachs.

The World Development Bank recently named Nigeria as one of its “World Development Stars” in light of the progress made in reform. Nigeria is the ninth largest producer of oil and holds the sixth largest gas reserves in the world. Critical to the governments economic reform program is a drive towards the diversification of the country’s economic base. The achievements have been notable with non-oil GDP growth at 9% per annum. The government has undertaken steps to encourage the non-energy sector, from supportive import substitution programs to tax holidays to encouraging investment in other sectors. The recent changes have started to filter down, continuing to support the high level of GDP growth. Investors are increasingly seeking “alpha” or outperformance and have turned their attention to the rising star that is Nigeria.

The investment platform is evolving rapidly. Significant liquidity has been added to the capital market. In addition, the Federal Government has undertaken a bond issuance program, creating the foundation for a transparent risk-free yield curve. Foreign Direct Investment has increased substantially over the last ten years due to increased political stability, improved corporate governance and market reform programs. Nigeria’s sovereign rating has been set as BB- , a significant move away from its status as a pariah state at the end of the last century. The exit from “Paris club” debt marked yet another milestone in Nigeria’s economic achievements. The debt buyback has liberated the country from the hitherto extensive debt burden.

8. THE NIGERIAN FINANCIAL MARKET

(a) Structure and Regulatory Framework: Capital Markets

The capital market can be classified into the primary and secondary markets. The regulation of the capital market in Nigeria lies in the hands of two main bodies, the Securities and Exchange Commission, although the Central Bank and the Ministry of Finance also play a role. The market consists of the SEC, the NSE, stockbrokers, registrars, issuing houses, trustees, banks, insurers, pension funds, the CBN, and the Ministry of Finance.

(b) The Securities and Exchange Commission

The Securities and Exchange Commission is the apex regulatory institution of the Nigerian capital market. It is a Federal Government agency established by the Securities and Exchange Commission Act 71 of 1979 which was re-enacted as Decree number 29 of 1988 this has been repealed by the Investment and securities Act of 1999, now the ISA 2007. Since inception, the SEC undertaken playing within the capital market a similar role to that played by the Central Bank of Nigeria in the money market. Before attaining its present status, the commission underwent a number of changes from the initial days of its progenitor, the Capital Issues Committee, which had ad-hoc powers to Capital Issues Commission that was statutorily established by the Capital Issues Decree of 1973. The basic objectives of the SEC include protection of investors and development of the capital market to enhance economic growth and development. In fulfilling these objectives, some of the functions the SEC carries out include registration of securities and trading instruments, public enlightenment programmes, and monitoring of investigation of operator market practices.

(c) The Nigerian Stock Exchange

The Nigerian Stock Exchange, is a self-regulatory body regulating the activities of operators in the Nigerian stock market. The Exchange started operations in 1961 (trading then, as the Lagos Stock Exchange) with 19 securities listed for trading. Today, there are more than 300 securities listed on the Exchange. Most of the listed companies have foreign/multinational affiliations and represent a cross-section of the economy, ranging from agriculture through manufacturing to services. The branch in Lagos was opened in 1961 after the enactment of the Lagos Stock Exchange Act, 1961; Kaduna, 1978; Port Harcourt, 1980; Kano, 1989; Onitsha and Ibadan, 1990. Lagos is the head office of the Exchange. An office has also been opened in Abuja and Yola.

The call over system was replaced in April, 1999 with the Automated Trading System (ATS), with bids and offers now matched by stockbrokers on the trading floors of the Exchange electronically through a network of computers. The Exchange maintains an All-share Index formulated in January 1984. Only common stocks (ordinary shares) are included in the computation of the index. The index is value-relative and is computed daily. Clearing, settlement and delivery of transactions on the NSE are done electronically by Central Securities Clearing System (CSCS), a subsidiary of the Stock Exchange. The CSCS Limited, also referred to as the "clearing house", was incorporated in 1992 as part of the effort to make the Nigerian stock market more efficient and investor-friendly. Apart from clearing, settlement and delivery, the CSCS also offers custodian services.

The market has witnessed appreciable growth in the past decade, especially with the re-emergence of democratic rule. The cumulative annual growth in the market capitalisation has averaged 58.45% in the last nine years. As of January 21, 2008 the market capitalisation of the equities section of the capital market stood above N10.59trn (Approx USD90.48bn).

Below is a tabulation of the trend in market capitalisation in the last nine years:

Much of the growth in the market capitalisation owes to new issues by existing and previously unquoted companies. None the less, the market performance index has continued to perform impressively. The All Share Index appreciated 74.86% in 2007 above the year-opening figure of 33,163.94 points to close the year at 57,990.22 points.

Structure and Regulatory Framework: Bond Market

The DMO is responsible for the management of Nigeria's public debt portfolio. In addition, it advises the government on formulating and implementing sustainable debt strategies, borrowing policies and management of contingent liabilities. The DMO has appointed twenty Primary Dealer and Market Makers ("PDMM") whose principal roles are to underwrite primary issues and quote firm two-way prices in the secondary market to encourage liquidity. The DMO regulates such activities, requiring a regular information flow in order to monitor market activities. The Central Bank acts as the Issuing House and Registrar to each issue. FGN bonds are listed and traded on the Nigerian Stock Exchange.

History of FGN Bond Issuance

The Federal Government returned to the bond market in 2003, after an absence of 17 years with the issuance of the 1st FGN Bond series. The reasons behind the issuance were clear:

- To help government fund its deficits in line with macroeconomic stability and fiscal prudence
- To provide the benchmark reference for bond issuance by other bodies like state governments or corporate entities
- To create and sustain a liquid and deep secondary market

The first series contained both fixed and floating rate bonds and offered 3,5,7 and 10 year tenors. Coupons were set at 17.75% and 18.25% for fixed and T-Bills plus 3.0% and T-Bills plus 3.75% floating. The issues were fully subscribed, raising over N70 billion for government coffers.

The 2nd FGN series was floated in July 2005, the proceeds of which were used to restructure the then existing stock of Nigerian Treasury Bills ("NTBs"), followed by a refinancing programme in 2006 of 91 days and 182 day NTBs. Part of the 2006 issue proceeds were used to fund three developmental finance institutions – namely the Bank of Industry, Federal Mortgage Bank of Nigeria and Nigeria Agricultural Co-operative and Rural Development Bank at a concessional loan rate of 8%.

The Debt Management Office ("DMO") issued two Special Purpose FGN bonds in 2006: the 12.50% 2009 and 13.50% 2011 Pension Arrears Bonds and the 13.50% 2011 Local Contractor Bonds. Five deposit banks participated in the private placement of N75 billion to settle pension arrears. N91.7 billion was floated in order to pay down the debts owed to local contractors.

The success of the 3rd FGN series was evident with an over 200% subscription rate raising N282 billion. Tenors were set at 3, 5 and 7 years, with most liquidity added at the short end of the yield curve.

The 4th series added significant liquidity at the long end of the yield curve with the first issuance of a 10 year fixed coupon bond. The DMO is committed to further lengthening the yield curve and is expected to launch a 15 year FGN bond in 2008.

The Yield Curve

The significant demand for FGN bonds has resulted in consistent oversubscription at the primary market level and has translated into a significant shift downwards of yields across the entire spectrum of maturities. The diversified investor base records a substantial international investor base. From a standing start in 2006, the value of transactions has increased to over N500 billion per month in 2007.
