Review and Outlook

- Yields on treasury bills dipped by 508bps on average over the month from 12.39% as at 31 October 2019 to 7.31% as at 30 November. Significant declines were recorded across all maturities with 12M yield losing the most (669bps) and 6M yield losing the least (410bps). Commercial Papers yielded 8.68% on 30 November, vs. 6.96% yield on T-Bills with similar maturities on the same day.
- The sharp decline in yields can be attributed to the CBN's restriction of non-bank financial institutions from partaking in Open Market Operation (OMO) Bills. Inflation figures for October 2019 were released during the month, showing an increase in YoY headline inflation to 11.61% from 11.24% in September, driven by food inflation. The market is currently sporting negative real returns with inflation higher than 12M yield.

- Yields on FGN Bonds dipped by 48bps on average over the month from 12.83% as at 31 October 2019 to 12.35% as at 30 November. Greater declines were seen in the short end of the curve with c. 2yr maturity losing 136bps on average while the 30yr maturity lost 18bps. Corporate bonds yielded 13.28% on 30 November, vs. 12.00% yield on FGN bonds with similar maturities on the same day.
- The decline in yields can be attributed in part to overflows of liquidity into the bond market, given the CBN restriction applied to Open Market Operation (OMO) Bills. Inflation figures for October 2019 were released during the month, showing an increase in YoY headline inflation to 11.61% from 11.24% in September, driven by food inflation. Investors could still get positive real returns on >3yr bonds, and the cost of interest rate risk.

Review and Outlook

- The NSE All Share Index gained 2.45% in November 2019, closing at 27,002.15 points from 26,355.35 at the start of the month. The increase in the ASI was led by the banking and consumer sectors, which rose by 15.26% and 4.87% respectively. The banking sector increase was driven by Access (+24.16%) and GTB (+22.29), while DangSugar (+33.33%) and Guinness (+29.98%) led the consumer sector rally.
- 6.98 billion shares worth N86.47bn were traded in November 2019, up from 6.08 billion shares worth N83.21bn traded in October 2019. The NSE ASI performance in November outperformed the MSCI emerging and frontier markets indices which gained 0.54% and 1.46% respectively. We think the negative real returns obtainable in the money market contributed to a shift in capital towards equities, especially among local institutional investors.

Disclaimer:

Investors should consider the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses of the funds carefully before investing. This and other information are contained in the fund's prospectus and summary prospectus, if available, which may be obtained by contacting our representative. Please read them carefully before you invest or send money.

Performance reflects changes in unit prices, reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions. All periods longer than one year are annualised. A new or smaller Fund's performance may not represent how the Fund is expected to or may perform in the long-term. New Funds have limited operating histories for investors to evaluate and new and smaller Funds may not attract sufficient assets to achieve investment and trading efficiencies. A Fund may be forced to sell a comparatively large portion of its portfolio to meet significant unitholders redemptions for cash, or hold a comparatively large portion of its portfolio in cash due to significant units purchases for cash, in each case when the Fund otherwise would not seek to do so, which may adversely affect performance.

A word about risk: Investing in foreign denominated and/or domiciled securities may involve heightened risk due to currency fluctuations, and economic and political risks, which may be enhanced in emerging markets. The value of most bond funds and fixed income securities are impacted by changes in interest rates. Bonds and bond funds with longer durations tend to be more sensitive and more volatile than securities with shorter durations; bond prices generally fall as interest rates rise. Past rankings are no guarantee of future rankings.
